Introduction to the Social Sciences Division

The Division offers six baccalaureate majors and one associate degree. The baccalaureate majors are: General Studies, History, Justice Studies, Psychology, Social Work and Social Science with Secondary Certification and emphases in Political Science, Sociology, and Anthropology. Social Science coursework can also be used to support the Interdisciplinary Studies baccalaureate degree. The Associate of Arts degree is Behavioral Science.

All the majors in the Social Sciences Division provide preparation for a variety of careers, and/or graduate school. In addition, the Social Science major, when taken as part of an integrated secondary education program, prepares students for professional teaching. The Justice Studies major includes emphases in Criminal Justice and Corrections/Human Services. The Psychology major is for students who wish to pursue graduate study in the discipline, or those who seek careers in human services and community agencies. The Bachelor of Social Work program's focus on the "Person-In-Environment" paradigm uniquely equips baccalaureate social workers to work effectively with individuals, families, groups, communities and organizations.

The Social Sciences Division lends vital support to the College through its participation in the General Education Core. All students are required to complete six Social Science credits as part of Core, and the Division provides a variety of courses for fulfilling this requirement.

The Social Sciences Division is committed to equal opportunity for all students. Policies and practices specifically prohibit discrimination based on, but not limited to, race, color, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, disablement, national origin, marital status, and political belief.

ADS-243 INTRODUCTION TO ADDICTION STUDIES 3.00 Credits

An intensive survey and introductory course for those wanting to pursue a degree minor in the field of substance abuse counseling and addictionology. Basic information about Federal and State Funding streams, Federal agencies and their function and role in setting federal mandates for shaping policy and procedures that drive funding for the addictions field. An overview of historical and current trends in the "War on Drugs," the economy of keeping drug cultures alive, as well as the secret history of addictions will be explored. Specifically this course is designed to help the student determine direction and professional career planning in this ever-changing field of treatment and prevention. The goal is to allow the student to gain valuable information and then to determine career choices in the various settings where treatment and prevention services are administered. Prerequisites: PSYC-101, or the permission of the instructor. Cross-listed with PSYC-243.

ADS-244 INTRODUCTION SUBSTANCE ABUSE PREVENTION SERVICE 3.00 Credits

This is the introductory course to the prevention specialist course work required to become a Prevention Specialist in the state of Idaho. This course will explore the nature of prevention services from the community, school and individual viewpoint and how prevention services are best administered. Elements of this course will include gaining a historical perspective and overall basis for prevention services through the identification of community and school based needs. Additional attention will be paid to the extent and nature of drug use, abuse, addiction, treatment issues, and the impact that alcohol and drugs have on the individual, family, peers and community as a whole. Students will also become familiar with the Institute of Medicine (IOM) continuum of care and levels of prevention and the Center of Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP) strategies and how to apply these strategies in prevention settings. Through the reading, in class assignments, lectures, writing projects and other educational tools the student will gain a general understanding of prevention services and how these services can be applied to youth in communities and schools in Idaho. Although the text and lectures are a main source for the course content, the student will also be required to respond to and interact with other sources of information such as research, relevant educational and training videos and possible guest lecturers. The student, as a result of this course, should have a thorough overview and understanding of the application of competent, ethical and culturally sensitive prevention services.

ADS-245 GROUP SKILLS SUBSTANCE ABUSE PREVENTION 3.00 Credits

This course will explore beginning group processes and group skills necessary for the prevention professional. Focus will include the learning and practicing of basic listening and helping skills and learning about group dynamics and processes, types of groups, and differences between various types of groups such as therapy, process and skill building groups. Additional information will center on assisting the beginning group facilitator to practice as a competent, ethical, cultural and gender sensitive facilitator. Specific content of the course will address theories of group process and dynamics, actual in class, hands-on practice of methods of group process and chances to participate and evaluate their group involvement. Through the reading, role playing, actual in class group participation as facilitator, in class assignments, lectures, writing projects and other educational tools the student will gain a general understanding of group work in substance abuse prevention services and how these services can be applied to youth in communities and schools in Idaho. Although the text and lectures are a minimal source for course content, the student will also be required to respond to and interact with other sources of information such as research, relevant educational and training videos and possible guest lectures. The student, as a result of this course, should have a basic knowledge and understanding of theories and skills needed to facilitate various groups in prevention settings as a competent, ethical and culturally sensitive group facilitator. This is a required course taken by students pursuing training as a Prevention Specialist or wishing to enhance their understanding and skill level in working with groups in the substance abuse prevention field. It is a course highly relevant to other majors and helping professions such as Education, Health, Social Work, Sociology, Kinesiology, Psychology, and Nursing, or anyone interested in improving general helping skills, group management techniques and basic knowledge, skills and attitudes related to running groups within the prevention field or other helping professions.

ADS-442 ETHICAL PRINCIPLES IN COUNSELING 3.00 Credits

Topics covered include federal and state laws, client welfare as a primary concern, professional competence-supervision/development, financial issues, personal wellness, and relationships to professionals and institutions. Development of students' ability to conceptualize ethical issues, utilize an appropriate model for resolution, and appreciate personal values and modes of ethical problem-solving are also considered. Fee required. Pre-requisite: PSYC-101 or PSYC-205 or permission of instructor. Cross-listed with PSYC-442.

ADS-443 CASE MANAGEMENT AND CHEMICAL DEPENDENCY 3.00 Credits

The course focuses on practical application and administration of Case Management Services in health and human service delivery systems in Idaho. Case management studies emphasize clinical focus on case management services that apply to Rural and Frontier settings in Idaho. Students work with case management models where case management and records monitoring occur, from hospital, in-patient care to out patient settings in rural communities. Students are exposed to various treatment populations such as High Risk populations including AIDS/HIV populations, elderly, Native American, as well as gender specific issues. Students will be exposed to other disciplines such as Mental Health, Voc-Rehab. as well as Developmental Disability populations. Pre-requisites: PSYC-101 or permission of instructor. Cross-listed with PSYC-443.

ADS-444 CHEMICAL DEPENDENCY AND PHARMACOLOGY 3.00 Credits

Introduction to basic concepts of drug absorption, distribution and effect. It is intended to provide substance abuse counselors with a broad background in the understanding of drug effects and operations. Additionally, to allow the student to have a base of knowledge of pharmacology upon which instruction and education of clients can be facilitated. Fulfills the requirement for certification for both Idaho and Washington State Certification Boards. Includes concepts of basic neuroanatomy, concepts of drug absorption and drug elimination, anatomy of drug effects, and consequences of long term drug use. A comprehensive survey of entities and agencies that govern Controlled Substances and ODT issues. A global perspective on the physiology and pharmacology of different classes of drugs both those illegal and legal, abused and those used for treatment in institutions. Pre-requisite: PSYC-101 and PSYC-205, or permission of instructor. Cross-listed with PSYC-444.

ADS-446 CHEMICAL DEPENDENCY AND FAMILY SYSTEM 3.00 Credits

Includes behavioral patterns in dysfunctional family systems, intervention techniques and best practice model programs in dealing with family issues surrounding addiction problems. This course will expose the student to a plethora of various approaches to family systems and cultures that are diverse in nature. Students will create and experience sculpting, remodeling and replicating family roles and dysfunctional systems within a learning lab model. Students will study and become intimately acquainted with the roles of family dysfunction and dependency issues. Additionally, the student will review historical perspectives that help shape and steer the current modes of treatment for this underserved population within the addictions field. Pre-requisites: PSYC-101 and PSYC-205, or permission of instructor. Cross-listed with PSYC-446.

ADS-447 TREATING CODEPENDENCY AND ADULT CHILDREN OF ALCOHOLICS 3.00 Credits

Identifies patterns of family dysfunction and the roots of codependency. Identifies the impact of chemical dependency, physical and sexual abuse, and parental rigidity on the development of the personality. Pre-requisite: PSYC-101 or PSYC-205 or permission of instructor. Cross-listed with PSYC-447.

ADS-448 CHEMICAL DEPENDENCY AND THE GROUP APPROACH 3.00 Credits

Identifies specific needs and treatment issues of the chemically dependent client. It is designed to provide both a cognitive and an experiential base from which the student can develop competency in treating this special population. Fulfills the requirements for certification as a chemical dependency counselor. Competency based education models for learning and integration of skills and techniques will be utilized. Pre-requisite: PSYC-101 or PSYC-205 or permission of instructor. Cross-listed with PSYC-448.

ADS-449 ASSESMENT/SCREENING AND CHEMICAL DEPENDENCY COUNSELING 3.00 Credits

Reviews techniques for intake screening and assessment of chemical dependency clients. Appropriate for use in multiple settings. Field experience is included. Pre-requisites: PSYC-101 or PSYC-205 or permission of instructor. Cross-listed with PSYC-449.

ADS-470 CRISIS INTERVENTION 3.00 Credits

Introduction and comprehensive overview of crisis intervention. Basic principles and theory of crisis intervention will be presented. Gives a foundation toward developing the skills to effectively deal with others in a crisis situation. Included are special populations/topics such as war veterans, rape, adult survivors, national disasters and other topics. Pre-requisites: PSYC-101 or PSYC-205, or permission of instructor. Cross-listed with PSYC-470.

ADS-492 SPECIAL TOPICS IN PSYCHOLOGY 3.00 CreditsADS-495 PRACTICUM IN PSYCHOLOGY 1.00-12.00 Credits

Emphasizes the development of the basic helping skills and/or psychological research skills through a supervised field experience. Learning plans and goals will be defined to target students desiring a specific field experience in various settings utilizing addictions professionals and programs. Pre-requisites: Permission of the instructor and PSYC-442. Cross-listed with PSYC-495.
