The Center for Arts & History's mission is to connect campus to community and the world through education and experiences in arts, culture, and the humanities. The Center provides students and the region with a unique opportunity for cultural enrichment, reflection, and education through exhibitions, events and special programming. The Center for Arts & History is home to art and historical exhibits, lectures, readings, and other humanities based academic presentations. The Center often features works from regional and local artists. Admission to gallery exhibitions (<http://www.lcsc.edu/cah/exhibits-events>) is free, however donations are encouraged. Memberships are also available for students and the community.

The Center is home to a permanent exhibit of a historic Chinese Beuk Aie Temple, which depicts a part of Chinese religion for hundreds of miners and support personnel who came to Lewiston and the regional area in 1865 following the discovery of gold.
